The Fortunate Friends.

For more than a score of years two men were friends. They lived in the same house in a New Jersey city, shared their confidences, their joys and woes—possibly very much as old friends will with a few words and little evidence of emotion. One was taken ill a month ago and last Saturday he died. The other was in another room at the time, and when sought he was dead. So far as may be guessed the two had died almost within the same instant.

Death is a lonely function. Except it be in accident or in battle, or in the rare occasion of plague, one must adventure into the vast unknown alone. A child whose every hour was dependence, a wife who all her days has been labored for, a hero who faced the world boldly whatever came, the master of men and the vagabond—each must take the first step across the divitie without a hand to guide, so far as we surely know. But how different the journey when two friends, tried and true, take to the road together. What may be fearful becomes romantic. What may be hardship can be borne, for there is the company that can lighten misery.—Toledo Blade.

CHOCOLATES

Chocolates and Bon Bons that as you eat them taste good, the taste lingers, forms a pleasant mental impression so that the next time you have that hankering for Chocolates you instantly think how good those last Chocolates were that you bought from The Lee & Osgood Co. They were made by Park & Tilford of New York. If you could see the inside of the Park & Tilford Candy Factory you could fully appreciate why their confectionery tastes so good—everything is spotlessly clean, light and sanitary, and the girls who handle these goods wear bright, white uniforms and handle each piece of chocolate with chocolate tongs instead of with the fingers. They come to you clean and bright, and as you munch them the chocolate crackles and you get that fine flavor of the pure fruit cream centers that makes a smile of contentment steal over your face as you say. "Arn't these chocolates made by Park & Tilford perfectly elegant!" and you bought them at

Important Improvements in 1911

INCREASED POWER.

Cylinder bore increased from 4½ inches to 4½ inches. This, with more efficient carburetor, (Special Schebler) which is water-jacketed, effects a material increase in power. Piston stroke, 4½ inches. The four cylinders are cast singly, with copper jackets applied, retaining the exclusive Cadillac features throughout. Horse power, A. L. A. M. Rating 32.4.

INCREASED COMFORT Wheel base increased from 110 to 116 inches, making the car ride more easily than ever.

IMPROVED APPEARANCE. Double drop frame, 214 inch drop, which makes car set lower, and this with the larger hood and more roomy tonneau greatly improves the appear-LARGE RADIATOR.

The radiator is larger, hence has greater cooling capacity. This is notwith-standing the fact that the Cadillac was never deficient in that respect. TIMKEN AXLE.

Full floating type Timken roller bearing rear axle. This is the same axle as used on a number of America's highest priced cars. Larger brake drums, giving greatly increased efficiency. Contracting and expanding double acting brakes, both equalized.

TWO IGNITION SYSTEMS. Two complete and independent ignition systems, each with its own set of spark plugs. The two ignition systems consist of Bosch high tension magneto and the new and improved Delco system with single unit cell, high tension distributor and controlling relay. Either system alone is efficient for operating the car.

ENCLOSED WIRING. All electrical wiring enclosed in cop-COPPER MANIFOLDS.

Copper manifolds are used for water inlets and outlets in the circulating LUBRICATION.

This new Cadillac for 1911 is not a mere insensate piece of steet and wood and iron.

It is the embodiment and the expression of a manufacturing principle to which the Cadillac Company committed itself more than ten years ago.

The Cadillac principle, faithfully followed all these years, is this—that any one of ten thousand or more Cadillace should be interchangeable in its parts with any other Cadillac of the same type.

type.
Cadillac interchangeability insures, in turn, an absolutely perfect alignment. It reduces friction to an infinitesimal minimum, augmenting every particle of power generated by the engine.

This principle implies a very large production with its consequent sconomy.

But it also implies a painataking exactness which must be exercised every hour of every working day in the year by every branch of a highly skilled organization.

We know that this car could not have been evolved except by the long and arc ous process which has been pursued in the Cadillac plant for the pursued in the Cadillac plant for the past ten years.

We know that it dinnot be excelled in scientific standardization until it is excelled by a manufacturing organization which has paralleled and curpassed this Capillac experience.

For the ensuing twelve months (as for the past twenty-four) the fullest capacity of the noblest motor equipment extant will be taxed to satisfy the normal Cadillac demand.
